Worship of God, the enjoyment of singing, and the promotion of Concordia have provided a three-fold incentive for the Concordia Chorus. Under the direction of Mr. Wilbert Grimm, the chorus this spring made several concert tours, visiting both the Puget Sound area and the Willamette Valley, the first such ventures in the history of this organization. Thus the chorus, too, has become a symbol and expression of the spirit of the new Concordia.

Missionary Society

This year marked the beginning of the Concordia Missionary Society. At its weekly meetings the society discussed missionary methods listened to lectures by home missionaries and undertook a number of projects.

Among these were canvassing for Sunday School children, distribution of tracts, and collection of Bibles, hymnals and religious literature for the churches in Germany.

NORTHWEST CONCORDIAN

Vol. 1, No. 1, January, 1937

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

First off, let me say that I appreciate the opportunity which the "Northwest Concordian" staff has given me in addressing you through this monthly column. There are many things that the staff has asked President Coates to contribute his observations and reactions to the "Northwest Concordian" in order to bring the students and administration into even closer relation and harmony.

These comments shall appear in every issue under the heading "President's Column."

Now to be discussed are some things that need to be remembered. This column will try to explain especially those things that fall in the latter category.

If you would not see what Coates does for you, let us see what Coates does for you.

First, let us see what Coates does for you. That is not something that can be taught in the classroom, or practically embodied, or brought in from the outside. That is something which must come from within you.

Let us see what Coates does for you. That is not something that can be taught in the classroom, or practically embodied, or brought in from the outside. That is something which must come from within you.

FURNISHINGS FOR

DORMITORY ORDERED

In a recent student body assembly President Coates announced that $5000 worth of furnishings had been ordered for the new dormitory. This equipment, manufactured by the Henshaw Company, is both modern and practical. Since it is made of metal it will be easy to clean and long-lasting. (Just think - no more trouble with the broken chairs or wobbly writing surfaces on wooden desks!) Every student will have a steel, four-hole desk, a chair with a leather upholstered seat, and a desk lamp. They will have two single beds which possibly may have uniform lockers. Each study-bedroom suite necessitating four will have two bookshelves on the walls, two chests of drawers, one comfortable armchair.

The four-piece set of the metal furniture will harmonize with the light and airy tile floor.

The windows will be equipped with matching drapes and curtain slats which should help to give a more homelike atmosphere to the room.

President Coates also reported that one double bed will be ordered for the dining room. Perhaps for a lounge room where the students can relax and read their books.

The news of these purchases was received enthusiastically by the students. All are looking forward to the time when the new building will be completed and so will be able to move into modern, attractive rooms.

This year witnessed the opening of a new chapter in Concordia's athletic program. As members of the Oregon High School Activities Association, both the basketball and baseball teams were able to compete with other high school teams in the "B" classification. Under the direction of Coach Wahlers, both teams enjoyed successful seasons. Concordia's baseball team won the championship for Multnomah - Clackamas counties. Future items on Concordia's athletic program include the introduction of tennis and track.

GROWING CONCORDIA

The keynote of Concordia's program is growth - an external growth in terms of new buildings, new equipment, new activities; and an internal growth in terms of a new awareness of Concordia's unique contribution to the spiritual development of the individual student. While the latter can only be inwardly experienced, the former can be visualized - as in these pictures of the physical progress of our growing Concordia.

FRIENDS OF CONCORDIA

The growth of Concordia is in large measure due to the loyal friends who have rallied to its support and promoted its cause throughout the Oregon - Washington District.

The Concordia Academy Guild enlisted the support of the women of the District by sponsoring "Concordia Days" in eleven zones. - The Alumni Association, organized a year ago, made the grading of the athletic field its major project for the year and maintains contact with all former students through a quarterly publication. - The Lutheran Education Society, reorganized this spring, has set for itself an ambitious program of service to Concordia. - The Oregon - Washington District itself has shown its vital interest in Concordia by gathering more than $80,000 during the past year for the new administration building. Pastors George Schmidt and Martin Zagel were the committee in charge of the Building Fund campaign. - Individual friends throughout the Northwest have contributed both money and food-stuffs in generous quantities. - These loyal supporters have made it possible for Concordia to succeed and grow!

GRADS OF THE HOARY PAST

LIKE THE ANCIENT pines and hemlocks in Longfellow's forest primeval, "hoary" with moss and in garments gray, there are still a number of alumni to be "hoary" here and there on this earth who were members of the first class ever to enter Concordia Seminary. That was in the year 1858, ten years after the eight brothers made their first successful airplane flight. One of these ancient-of-days, the Rev. John Schmidt, now a bit of a relic, is still living.

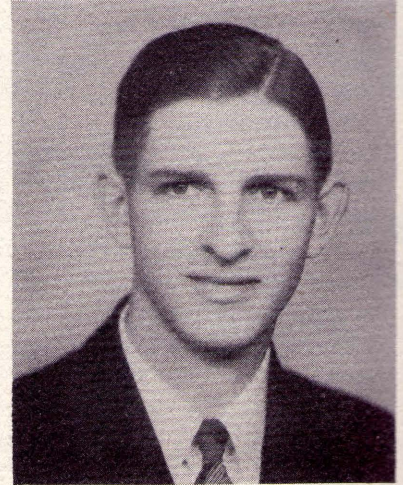

On the opening day of 1858, some of these men, enrolled. One soon discontinued his studies. Of the remaining 15, Walter G. Hall, Louis Wender, Fred Rogers, Hall Hendon, John Thomsen, and I are still in the service of the Church. After a long-time pastorate at St. Paul, Minn., he now our energetic director of the Oregon and Washington District. Also, as we recall, also left him some time before this. Rev. John Williams became missionary to India and was later prisoner by the British during World War I. He has since entered the Church in England. William Nyman is now living at "Wah, Washington. Fred Hargrett is a farmer near Johnson, Idaho. Elvir Meyer is a chicken rancher at
